TURN TO PAGE 6 FOR HER STORY
Welcome to the Summer 2019 edition of Wagging Tails. We have had a busy year at Pet Project Foundation caring for and adopting out hundreds of animals and working with our expansive and dedicated volunteer network, and we couldn’t accomplish any of this without you, our supporters.

Did you know that in 2018 we reunited more than 200 animals with their owners, and aided in more than 350 adoptions and rescue placements? PPF volunteers donated more than 30,000 hours of their time last year - walking dogs, answering phones, cuddling with kittens, hopping rabbits, planning events, attending meetings, representing PPF in the community and much more. This year is shaping up to be even busier, and we can’t wait to share more of our successes.

In this issue, we highlight some of our amazing volunteers who lead their various areas. Scheduling weekly volunteer shifts, lending expertise, coordinating rides to veterinary appointments, exerting physical, mental and emotional stamina, sharing our adoption stories and capturing those magic moments our animals meet their forever families. This is just a small sample of a day in the life of our PPF Volunteer Coordinators. We asked them to talk about what it means to them to be unsung safeguards of our animals and lead our teams of volunteers. On the following pages, and in their own words, they reveal the answers to these questions and more.

We are incredibly proud of all the work that our organization does, and the wonderful relationship that we have with the staff of the San Clemente-Dana Point Animal Shelter.

I encourage you to visit our shelter, meet our animals, fundraise, or attend one of our events and engage with our mission. Donations are of course always welcome, and put to good use saving lives and providing a loving refuge for our shelter animals, while they wait for their forever homes (no matter how long that may take). If you can give the gift of time, we are always looking for volunteers for our dogs, cats, rabbits and even in our office area. We’d love to meet you, and I’m sure we have a furry friend that would be the perfect fit for you and your family.

Sincerely,

Vickie McMurchie
CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD

Animals Spotlight

America the Beautiful! By Paula Becker

We often wonder why people leave America for another country to live - it is so beautiful here. The cat room volunteers were equally as perplexed why anybody would want to leave a beautiful cat named America behind, but that is what happened over a year ago.

America’s owner was moving out of the country and brought his cat to our shelter. America was initially cranky and lashed out at volunteers, making us wonder if she was confused, hurt, and lonely. We had to take our time with her - but now that she has been at the shelter for so long, she is happy when the volunteers come to visit her. We have become her family. She rushes to whomever enters her suite. She craves attention, petting and love. Again, why would anyone want to leave her? And why is she still here waiting for a new home? Come visit America and see how incredibly beautiful she is, inside and out.

Mack the Magnificent
Mack is a three-year-old male Pointer Great Dane mix. He walks nicely on leash, knows his basic commands and loves spending time with his people. Mack would be a loving companion to his person and he is loved by all his volunteer handlers. He enjoys hanging out in his yard and would need a home with him being the only pet. Can you find a place to add Mack to your pack, and give him a loving forever home?

BREED: Pointer Great Dane Mix
AGE: 3 Years Old

Cute Curly
Curly is one of our veteran shelter residents and volunteer favorites. She is a 7 year old DSH. A confident kitty, she is not a hide-under-the-bed type; and she really likes catnip! She is curious, talkative and loves to perch up high and watch what’s going on around her. She would be the perfect fit for someone with no other cats in the household, and who likes classical music, as Curly is a big fan of Mozart (really!). She has been waiting for her forever home for too long. Contact us to learn more about Curly!

BREED: Domestic Shorthair
AGE: 7 Years Old

Couple Beethoven & Shadow
The handsome Dutch rabbit Beethoven was transferred from a rabbit rescue that had to shut down. After spending about a year at the shelter, he finally found a lovely black mini-lop friend named Shadow. Unfortunately, several months after bringing Beethoven home, the adoptive family decided to give them both up. Fortunately for us, we had room for them. They’re an inseparable couple now - so wonderful to see them snuggling! The two of them would make any house bunny family happy - they have sweet personalities, great litter box habits, and make a gorgeous pair!

BREED: Dutch Rabbit & Mini-Lop
AGE: Beethoven - 5 yrs old
Shadow - 3 yrs old

All these adorable animals are looking for loving homes. If you think one of them would be a great addition to your family, please visit the shelter to meet them. They’ll be waiting for you!
Outside of her weekly volunteer shift, Lisa Schneider coordinates the weekly schedule for 38 Cat Volunteers, many of whom have been volunteering for more than fifteen years.

In her words: “I love cats and I wanted to find a way to give back. We always had cats growing up. The first cat I rescued on my own, I had for close to eighteen years. We have three cats now: Gidget, Diesel & Strudel - all of them came from PPF. Two we fell in love with by fostering and one was an adoption through the shelter. There are two primary things our Cat Volunteers do. The main responsibility is socialization, where volunteers are directly interacting with the cats and providing human affection. For some of the semi feral and shyer cats, this might be working with them through shy cat training (Cat Clicker Training) and getting them to the point where they’re comfortable with human interaction. We have some longer term volunteers who are experts with shy cat interactions and clicker training is an additional program to help our kitties become more adoptable. I think everyone enjoys socializing with the cats the most!

The other responsibility is interacting with the public to help facilitate the adoption process. We’re the first people to interact with the public and see if there’s going to be a viable match. We help answer questions, oversee the interactions and support the shelter staff who make the adoption decisions.

We have repeat adopters that come in, that you won’t see for years, then, once they’ve lost a cat or they’re ready for another cat, they’ll come in and say, “Give me your most unadoptable cat!” or, “Give me one of your shyer cats.” So, we have people that actually come in and seek that out. I think that is one of the most rewarding parts about volunteering here.

Our newest volunteers have been with us for only four to six months, but we have volunteers that have been here for twenty-six years! I feel incredibly lucky to work alongside them as we continue to dedicate time to and share a common passion for the well-being of our PPF kitties.
Coordinating one of the mightiest teams of volunteers is Cindy Fisher, Pet Project Foundation’s Rabbit Volunteer Coordinator, who has advocated for our rabbits for the last 24 years.

In her words: “I started volunteering in 1995 when San Clemente and Dana Point had separate volunteer organizations that later merged to become Pet Project Foundation. At that time, the shelter was in a small warehouse and the bunnies were kept in tiny cages on the floor. Since then, we moved into the current shelter and have rescued hundreds of rabbits, some rounded up from sites where they were dumped, others that were found and brought in by the public.

Rabbits need care and grooming just like any pet. They require lots of fiber and water in their diet. Although rabbits are the third most common pet, many people don’t know much about them. I love potential adopters who have done their research before they come in – they’re more likely to provide a good home for our furry friends. Finding the right bunny for a family and helping people to learn more about rabbits are two of the most rewarding parts of my role.

Since our humble beginnings in the warehouse, PPF and the volunteers have taken on the challenge of providing a better area to house and “hop” our rabbits. Our passionate, committed volunteers are instrumental in helping the rabbits in our care thrive!”
